UNITED STATES

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

COMMISSIONER OF LAND OFFICE

TRANSMITTING A REPORT

OF THE

LAND COMMISSIONER

TO THE SECRETARY OF THE INTERIOR

MADE AT WASHINGTON

IN RESPONSE TO A RESOLUTION OF THE SENATE PASSED MAY 10, 1890

WASHINGTON

PRINTED BY THE GOVERNMENT PRINTING OFFICE

1891

GENERAL LAND OFFICE,

1st January, 1821.

SIR : I have the honor to transmit, herewith, a copy of the report of the Land Commissioners at St. Helena, dated 18th November, 1820, with lists of claims marked A, B, and C, and a list of settlers; also, a copy of a letter from the Commissioners, dated 18th November, 1820.

I have the honor to be, most respectfully,

Sir, your obedient servant,

JOSIAH MEIGS.

The Hon. the PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE.

General J. H. Carter
 1st January, 1901.

I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 29th inst. in relation to the matter of the proposed extension of the term of the lease of the land owned by the Government, and in reply to inform you that the same has been referred to the proper authorities for their consideration.

I am, Sir, very respectfully,
 Your obedient servant,

J. H. Carter

Enclosed for you are the reports of the various departments.

LAND OFFICE, ST. HELENA,

18th November, 1820.

SIR : We have the honor to transmit you a final list of settlement claims, with our corresponding opinions thereupon, marked C No. 1. On the subject of claims founded on titles, complete or incomplete, and reported by us favorably, we have conceived it unnecessary to subjoin any comments. A majority of them were granted by the government of Spain prior to 1803. Such as bear date subsequently to that time have the collateral aids of actual occupancy and cultivation. They will be found under registers A and B, Nos. 2 and 3.

Register C No. 4 comprehends British patents. No proof has been exhibited by the claimants that there ever was, on their part, a compliance with the requisitions of the law of the 3d of March, 1819. They are respectfully submitted to the consideration of Congress.

A few anomalous claims remain yet in our office, on which we have not yet reported. They were entered within the time limited by law, but unaccompanied by the original title papers, the claimants not having them in their possession. When they made their entries they solicited a short time to enable them, if possible, to procure those titles. We deemed it prudent to grant them this indulgence. They will be reported in time to meet the examination of the present session of Congress. All of which is respectfully submitted.

We have the honor to be, sir,

With considerations of high esteem,

Most respectfully, your obedient servants.

CHARLES S. COSBY,
FULWAR SKIPWITH.

The Honorable JOSIAH MEIGS,

Commissioner General Land Office.

General Land Office.

The reports, or registers, received with this letter, are marked:

A No. 1.

B No. 2.

C No. 4.

A list of settlers not marked, and a long letter, or report, dated 18th November, 1820.

THE OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

WASHINGTON, D.C.

We have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 10th inst. in relation to the subject of the proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States, and in reply to inform you that the same has been forwarded to the proper authorities for their consideration. The subject is of great importance, and it is the duty of the Government to give it the most careful and prompt consideration. We are, however, unable to give you a more definite answer at this time, as the matter is still under consideration. We will, however, keep you advised of any further developments. Very respectfully,
The Honorable Justice
Commissioner General and Agent

Hon. JOSIAH MEIGS,
Commissioner of General Land Office.

LAND OFFICE AT ST. HELENA, 18th November, 1820.

CHARLES S. COSBY,
FULWAR SKIPWITH.

LAND OFFICE,

St. Helena, 18th November, 1820.

SIR : We have the honor herewith to enclose you a final list of all the settlement claims entered in this land office, since our last report of a similar nature. In that report we respectfully submitted our opinions relatively to the extension of pre-emptional claims, down to the 3d of March, 1819. We again beg leave to repeat our conviction that such a provision would essentially aid the population and prosperity of this section of Louisiana. A major part of the claimants who have settled subsequently to 1814, are poor, and consequently would be unable to maintain a competition with a rich bidder. Although the lands on which they have made their improvements are generally poor, still those very improvements on which they have expended their time and labor will, in many cases, be sufficient to excite the cupidity of their wealthy neighbors. They cannot require the recognition of their claims of right, but we hope that, where they are only opposed by the United States' title, that title will be relinquished for the present established prices. Such a provision, we believe, will give general satisfaction, and interfere but very partially with the revenue of the government. Such are our opinions on this subject, in which we are joined by a large majority of the inhabitants of our district. In relation to settlements made anteriorly to the 15th April, 1813, we conceive it unnecessary to make any remarks. Under the present law they are, when fairly made, entitled to donations. Whether the entries which they have made contain a fair representation of their several claims, is a fact which can only be ascertained by a future investigation. We have found it necessary to note all applications for entries, and to report them accordingly. We trust that no difficulty can grow out of this course, inasmuch as the person who applies for a certificate, under any future law which may be passed, will, of course, be required to shew, by sufficient testimony, that he is entitled to it. To designate absolutely, at this time, every claim which was settled before the 15th of April, 1813, would be paving the way for the commission of many errors. When the temptation is great, it is frequently dangerous to trust a man's own evidence, or even the evidence of his witnesses. Poverty and the seductions of interest are powerful instigators to the commission of perjury. We have experienced the truth of this proposition in exercising the power which the law gives us of issuing certificates to settlers. This class of claimants exhibited their claims to the former commissioner, (acting under the law of 25th April, 1812) under the obligation of an oath. In issuing certificates on such entries, we also required the best testimony that could be procured; notwithstanding all the care we could possibly exercise, we have been frequently subject to the grossest impositions. For this reason we have thought it prudent to report the late entries provisionally. Any law confirming positively designated entries would, most probably, require frequent revision and alterations. To most of the settlers reported by our predecessor, (James O. Cosby) certificates have issued; they have been numbered and registered agreeably to the ——— requisitions of the law and the forms which we had the honor to receive from you at the time that we commenced our duties. For the first five or six months after the opening of our office, the daily multitude of applications which were made required our undivided and unremitting attention. We frequently had twenty and thirty persons waiting at the same time. Under this continued press of business, it was impossible to make the monthly returns required by the law. So soon as it was practicable, a list of the certificates issued was made out, and accompanied our first report of settlement claims. Of the fate of that report, as well as of the last, containing the abstract, or analysis, of claims entered with us, said to be derived from the French, British, or Spanish authorities, and, also, of such claims as had been renewed, we were entirely ignorant until we ascertained, from the National Intelligencer, that these reports had been forwarded by you to the Speaker of the House of Representatives. We presume that this circumstance is to be attributed to the many failures of the mail. After the expiration of the time mentioned, every day presented some remonstrance or protest against particular certificates which had been granted. Aware that the government of the United States wished to make an equal and impartial distribution of the lands which had been thus liberally and voluntarily given away, we thought it proper to notify the persons against whom such complaints were lodged, to come forward and establish their pretensions by sufficient testimony, or consider their certificates as null and void. In doing this, we considered ourselves pursuing strictly the spirit of the law, in attempting to render that justice which it contemplated. Hence, this necessity of frequently revising our acts rendered it impossible to make monthly returns without committing innumerable blunders, which would have required continual communications to you requesting their correction. Unwilling to assume power on the one hand, and anxious, on the other, to accomplish, as far as possible, the ends of our appointment, we deemed it prudent to issue certificates, even on doubtful grounds, but to direct the surveyors not to survey any settlement claims, even if the applicants had certificates, without previously obtaining from our office a catalogue of such certificates as we considered, after giving time for scrutiny, unquestionably valid. This course, we believe, would give time to all parties interested to enter their opposition, and also leave in our hands a controlling check upon the designing and dishonest. Were the surveyors, in every instance, to take our certificates immediately after they issued, as full proof of title, many errors would be committed, and the foundation laid for much future trouble and perplexity. The monthly returns, requiring a strict correspondence with the register, can only be made accurately when time and examination has tested the correctness of each individual certificate. We trust, sir, this course will meet your approbation. It was adopted under the belief that it would add many facilities to the final and satisfactory adjustment of land claims in this important section of the Union. The law of the 3d of March, 1819, establishes our offices, permanently and unconditionally, at St. Helena court-house. This provision was, doubtless, predicated on the belief that that place would meet the general convenience of the district. Such was then the fact, but it no longer exists. By a reference to the report of the former commissioner, (James O. Cosby) it will be seen that a very large proportion of the claims emanating from titles, either British or Spanish, complete or incomplete, are situated in the parishes of Feliciana and East Baton Rouge. The most of the settlement claims lie in St. Helena and St. Tammany. For the last, certificates have generally issued; for the former, but a few. In relation to entries made under the late law, nothing can be done until the decision of Congress shall be known. From the Mississippi river, the western boundary of the first named parishes (Feliciana and East Baton Rouge) to St. Helena court-house, is a distance of from fifty to eighty miles. Believing that an office in the town of East Baton Rouge would be a general accommodation to all persons who are now interested in it, and complying with the general expression of their wishes, we have thought it advisable, provisionally, to establish the office there. Four fifths of the claimants, now concerned, live within thirty miles of Baton Rouge. We trust, sir, the reasons assigned are sufficient to justify the step we have taken. There are others of a local nature which have given us much perplexity. As many of the claimants speak the French language only, and most of the original written evidences of claim are in the Spanish, a translator in whose capacity and fidelity the utmost confidence may be placed is indispensably necessary. The gentleman whom we employed (Francis Herault) possesses those qualifications in an eminent degree. He is liberally educated, has resided long in this country, and is extensively acquainted with the laws, usages, and customs, of the Spanish government. Possessing such recommendations, and standing high in the estimation of the district generally, he rendered us, in the discharge of our duties, essential and valuable services. He has left us, and to procure such another would certainly be extremely difficult, if not impossible. He resigned because he could not be reconciled to what he conceived were the many impositions practiced on him by the person with whom he boarded. The village (St. Helena court-house) is situated in a very poor country, and the accommodations afforded by it very indifferent. The owner of the only public house where it is practicable to live, is a man whose habits are very irreconcilable with the enjoyment of quiet or comfort. In his sphere he may be a very useful man, but he is not qualified to entertain boarders who are unwilling to participate in the noise and revelry of a boisterous landlord, continually surrounded by a company of drunkards and blackguards. Educated in the course of life which he pursues, he is not sensible, perhaps, that his conduct is objectionable, and therefore may be excused; but this is no diminution of the relative evil. Our local objections to a permanent residence at St. Helena court-house may possibly seem trivial, but we really have experienced them to be of the most unpleasant and harassing nature. A wish to escape the imputation of rashness induces us to be thus minutely particular. In Baton Rouge we can obtain again the services of Mr. Herault, as a clerk. Without a clerk, agreeably to the forms and instructions which we had the honor to receive from you, no certificate can issue, his attestation being necessary. The population of our district (Feliciana and Baton Rouge excepted) is dispersed over a considerable extent of country. From ten to twenty miles frequently intervene between the settlements in the same parish. A large proportion of the settlers, whose claims have been reported by us, are poor, and find it both difficult and expensive to travel any distance, even on imperative business. We would, therefore, with deference, suggest that the law which Congress may pass for the adjustment of the last entries, as well as for the final conclusion of such as have been acted on, should authorize the Register and Receiver to hold their respective offices in each parish successively. Such a provision would certainly accelerate the termination of the business, and would be a general accommodation to the people concerned, as each parish would require a continuance in it proportioned to the business to be done; that continuance would have to be regulated by the Register and Receiver. The exercise of this discretionary power would, of course, be restrained and governed by the time which the law may allow for the entire completion of the business. When the sales of land take place, a permanent office in St. Helena would be ineligible, because dangerous, neither the village nor parish affording any safe depository for the moneys which may be received. As commissioners, as well as citizens, of this district, we feel it our duty to impart any information which may, even collaterally, assist in effecting (what is so desirable) the conclusive and satisfactory arrangement of its land claims. For this reason we respectfully submit the following remarks relatively to the situation, soil, and character, of the different parishes constituting our district.

Feliciana is bounded on the west by the Mississippi river; on the south by a line running due east and west, commencing on the Mississippi, and intersecting the Amite river, its eastern boundary, at right angles. This line separates it from the parish of East Baton Rouge, its southern boundary. For its northern boundary, it has the line of demarkation dividing it from the state of Mississippi. The lands in this parish are generally fertile, affording, in every respect, the most flattering encouragement to agricultural and commercial pursuits. The western boundary (the Mississippi) supplies a speedy and safe transportation for its produce to New Orleans. The principal staple commodity is cotton. The soil is also excellently adapted to the production of corn, esculent roots, and generally to vegetables of every description. This parish, with the exception of a few sterile spots, is thickly settled; the inhabitants are generally farmers, and many of them wealthy. They are almost entirely Americans. In their respective pursuits they are persevering and industrious; hospitable, and generally well affected towards the general government. The first settlers were mostly adventurers for fortune's favors, poor and illiterate; of course, the accumulation of wealth alone arrested their attention, and gave energy to their efforts. Having proved successful in acquiring a competency, they now evince a laudable anxiety to give their children an education, the serious want of which they have so often and painfully experienced. The present rising generation, having their views enlarged by education, connected with each other by a variety of ties and relations, amalgamating their interest and policy, will, in a few years, form an excellent state of society.

East Baton Rouge is situated on the Mississippi river, (western boundary;) bounded by the parish of Feliciana on the north; east by the river Amite; and on the south by the river Iberville, which opens a communication with lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain. Between the soil of this parish and that of Feliciana there is but a partial difference; their productions are nearly the same, except, perhaps, the sugar cane, which is supposed to succeed better in the former than the latter. The lands, though extremely rich, require the aid of ditches before they can be rendered completely susceptible of cultivation. When this object is accomplished, their fertility is almost inexhaustible. The population of this parish bears no proportion to the many inducements which it offers to the industrious and enterprising. This fact, we presume, is materially attributable to the large grants of land which were made by the Spanish government from (as we suppose) sinister views, during the years 1804, 5, 6 and 7. Few persons were willing to adventure their time and labor on a plantation from which they knew not at what moment they might be evicted. Their entire want of confidence, also, in the honor or integrity of the Spanish government, induced them to remove as far as possible from its capital (East Baton Rouge.) Hence, this parish, with the exception of the margin of the Mississippi river, is but thinly settled. The population is of a mixed character, Americans, French, and Spaniards: the Americans have a majority. The French and Spaniards reside principally in the town of Baton Rouge and its immediate vicinity. They are an inoffensive people, principally engaged in agricultural pursuits, and disposed to contribute their share to the support of a government which protects them. Though they may not boast of all the refinements of cultivated society, they are equally removed from that barbarism of which they have been accused. Their posterity will, no doubt, coalesce with the Americans, and in a few years the line of division, which now gives them a specific distinction, will be forgotten. Hospitality to strangers, and kindness towards each other, are their prominent characteristics. The American inhabitants are generally poor, and such as claim their lands by virtue of settlements. They are a hardy, honest, adventurous race of men, warmly devoted to their farms, submitting with cheerfulness and alacrity to all the requisitions of the law, and ready, at all times, to prove themselves Americans. The state of society has been indifferent, but is now improving. Societies, composed of emigrants and foreigners from different quarters of the world, require a considerable length of time to produce a complete coalition. The materials are too incongruous to harmonize at once. The town of Baton Rouge is a flourishing village, and the seat of justice for the parish. A large proportion of its occupants are engaged in the mercantile business. It is usually considered the most healthy site on the Mississippi river.

St. Helena lies between the rivers Amite and Tangipahou, (western and eastern boundaries) having for its northern boundary the line of demarkation, and its southern lake Maurepas. Travelling from the Mississippi river eastwardly, upon entering this parish, the country assumes a new and widely different appearance. In the parishes already described, the face of the country is occasionally broken, and the growth principally cypress, magnolia, different species of oak, ash, walnut, hickory, holly, sassafras, and poplar. In the latter parish the lands are uniformly level, and the soil, generally speaking, of very inferior quality. The only lands which are now cultivated lie on the margin of the different water courses bounding and running through the parish. The growth is almost entirely pine. The time may possibly arrive when these lands will sell. At present they are mostly unclaimed, and we presume will continue so for many years: nothing but a monopoly of the rich territories of the United States can render them saleable. Stock, tar, and pitch, are the only commodities which can be expected from pine woods. There are, probably, on the lake some eligible places, commanding an extensive range, and affording an easy communication with Orleans, which will be purchased. We speak of the lands generally. This parish is almost entirely inhabited by Americans; they are poor, but constitute a very valuable class of citizens.

St. Tammany is bounded on the east by Pearl river; on the west by Tangipato; north by the line of demarkation, and south by the lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain. The remarks made relatively to St. Helena, both as to the soil and inhabitants, are equally applicable to this parish. The only cultivable lands are situated on the different streams by which it is watered. The only principal streams are its eastern and western boundaries, and the rivers Bogue, Chitto, and Tchefonti. The latter is navigable fifteen or twenty miles from its confluence with lake Pontchartrain. The others, it is presumable, might be rendered so for small craft, if proper exertions were made for that purpose. The lands lying on the margin of lake Pontchartrain, embracing Tchefonti as far as it is navigable, are generally covered by English and Spanish grants, which have received the confirmation of the United States. The settlement claims are to be found wherever there are tillable lands. The section of the country which we have thus attempted to describe, is, probably, as healthy as any part of Louisiana, or of the western country. The climate is equable, and the atmosphere generally clear. Its humidity (occasioned, probably, by extensive swamps on the Mississippi) is not sufficiently great to generate disease, except immediately on that river. After passing the Amite river, the boundary between the river and interior parishes, the inhabitants are scarcely acquainted with disease, except occasional intermittents of the mildest character. We trust that these remarks will not be deemed inapplicable, when it is recollected that they may tend, in some degree, to elucidate the history of a part of Louisiana, which we do conceive to be of great importance, not only to the state of which it is an integral part, but also to the general government. It is here only that we can rationally expect, for many years, to find a pure and united American population. Agricultural pursuits are certainly better calculated to form a bold and virtuous yeomanry, than the speculations of the merchant, or the avocations of the learned. Agriculture here must necessarily be, for a long time, the almost exclusive object of interest and energy. It is of essential concern to Louisiana that there should be, in some part of her interior, a force sufficient to protect her from a domestic foe, whose numbers and force are daily accumulating. The general government is also interested in Louisiana as an outward sentinel of the Union in times of invasion and danger from a foreign or domestic foe. Much has depended, and may depend again. To be prepared for such an event is certainly the dictates of wisdom and sound policy. Towards the accomplishment of these important objects, a compact and numerous population in Florida will, we believe, materially contribute. It will aid the arm of its own government, and give to her a genuine American character, devoted to the constitution, and well prepared to defend it. Influenced by these considerations, we have made this digression, and will conclude it by respectfully, but earnestly, recommending the government to pursue such a course as will speedily terminate all uncertainty about land titles, and encourage emigration to this country, so long harassed by doubt and inquietude. The daily acquisition of territory making by the United States, renders such a course an object of peculiar interest to the people of our district. Emigration to our country has already been checked by its reputation for uncertainty in its land titles. The only antidote to this evil is the extinction of that uncertainty. Great uneasiness has been excited among the settlers, in consequence of the confiction of their claims. It was a prevalent custom with them, when about to occupy unappropriated lands, to agree with the adjoining settlers upon what they called conditional lines. By these lines they were governed in the improvements which they made. Where the lands are tolerably fertile, the settlements are so thickly made that it will be impossible for each claimant to obtain the number of acres conceded him by the government, without comprehending in his survey his neighbor's farm. There are frequently as many as three settlers (all having certificates) on the same section. In some instances the oldest settler identified the place where a subsequent one might fix himself; in others the settlement was made violently. In laying off the land into sections it frequently happens that the sectional line runs through a man's farm, and sometimes through his house. This difficulty confines itself exclusively to such settlers as have received donations. The surveys of pre-emptional claims will, of course, be governed by such as have been confirmed. We will conclude by expressing our belief that the late liberal and judicious act of Congress, altering and regulating the prices of public lands, will prove equally beneficial to the revenue of the United States, and to the interest of the purchasers.

We have the honor to be, sir, with considerations of esteem,

Respectfully, your obedient servants.

CHARLES S. COSBY.

FULWAR SKIPWITH.

The Honorable JOSIAH MEIGS,

Commissioner of the General Land Office.

GENERAL LAND OFFICE,

May 11, 1820.

SIR: I have the honor to transmit herewith, a copy of the report of the Land Commissioners at St. Helena, and a copy of their list of actual settlers, dated 24th December, 1819, and 17th March, 1820.

I am, respectfully, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

JOSIAH MEIGS.

The Hon. the PRESIDENT of the Senate.

LAND OFFICE St. Helena, March 17, 1820.

SIR: We have the honor, herewith, to forward you an abstract or analysis of such titles, complete and incomplete, as have been exhibited to us since the opening of our offices. In making this analysis, we have adopted the form used by the former commissioner, (J. O. Cosby.) We believe it embraces all the essentials requisite to enable Congress, in their investigations, to discover at one view the character and description of each individual claim.

In relation to imperfect titles, dated posteriorly to the 20th of December, 1803, and reported by us for confirmation, we have been governed entirely by an affirmative answer to this inquiry: Would the claimant under the law of the 3d of March, 1819, be entitled to a section of land in virtue of his settlement? We do not recognize any right in the government of Spain to dispose of the lands of a territory of which she held tortious and illegal possession, but we consider that the fair and bona fide inhabitation and cultivation of a tract of land under her auspices ought in justice and equity to entitle the party claiming to a recognition of his title by the government of the United States.

Register A No. 2, embraces Spanish titles consummated by the legitimate authorities anterior to 1803, and a few British patents confirmed by the government of Spain. In relation to those claims, we conceive it unnecessary to make any remarks. They are certainly entitled to an unqualified confirmation.

Register B No. 2, embraces orders of survey, plats, and certificates, &c. Such as emanated from the Spanish government, prior to 1803, we consider as of right entitled to perfection by the government of the United States, and as to those which are dated subsequently to that time, we have already stated our reasons why we think them entitled to the liberality of our government.

In every case where we have reported favorably in consequence of the inhabitation and cultivation, we have required and received, in establishment of those material facts, satisfactory testimony.

Register E comprehends such claims as were reported for rejection by the former commissioner, and have been renewed by the parties interested. By reference to that report, (the present register designates the No.) it will be discovered that generally no inhabitation or cultivation was mentioned. It was a prevalent opinion with such as claimed under complete titles, that their patents required no collateral support, and hence it is that they were wholly indifferent as to proofs of occupancy. They have now discovered their mistake, and again exhibit their claims, accompanied by those proofs; our opinion in relation to titles dated subsequently to the 20th of December, 1803, we presume is applicable here. We beg leave respectfully to state, that, in our estimation, the claims contained in register E ought to be confirmed under the provisions and limitations of the law of 3d of March, 1819.

We have the honor to be, Sir,

With considerations of high esteem,

Most respectfully, yours, &c.

CHARLES S. COSBY, Reg.

FULWAR SKIPWITH, Rec.

Hon. JOSIAH MEIGS,

Commissioner of the General Land Office.

LAND OFFICE ST. HELENA, 17th March, 1820.

Land Office St. Helena, 24th Dec. 1819.

SIR: Enclosed we have the honor to transmit you a list of the settlers who have entered their claims since the 23d August, 1819, the time when the Register's Office was opened. By reference to the list, it will appear that many claims have been entered originating from settlements made in 1818, or 19.

We have received entries of settlements made since the 20th April, 1814. Because, in the first place, we thought it probable that pre-emptional rights would be extended to the time of the passage of the law, (3d March, 1819,) and we know no reason why such extension of the time should not be granted. And, in the second place, we did not feel ourselves authorized to reject any applications which were made for the entries of claims. From our acquaintance with this our district, we do believe that rights of preference extended to the 3d of March, 1819, under the provisions of the law of that time, would be essentially serviceable to its population, and would completely meet the views of Congress, which governed them at the passage of that law—as to persons who settled anterior to the 15th April, 1813, or prior to the time to which pre-emptional claims extended.

We do not conceive it necessary to make any remarks as to claims posterior to that date. We have respectfully expressed our opinions.

We have the honor to be,

Sir,

With considerations of esteem,

Most respectfully yours,
